

Delectable dimension: the dining room at Anne-Sophie Pic.

Gastronomes See (Michelin) Stars at Beau-Rivage

Foodies will thank their lucky stars for Anne-Sophie Pic, the new gastronomic restaurant at the Beau-Rivage Palace in Lausanne, Switzerland. Its eponymous chef – the only female in France to earn three of the coveted Michelin symbols – comes from a long line of culinary royalty, and is known for her original, unpretentious approach in the kitchen. Her exciting menu highlights fresh coastal fish – including a delectable sea bass and caviar homage to her father, Jacques – and a tempting selection of appetizers, from fresh morels with Parmigiano-Reggiano to sautéed frog legs. The new venue adds yet another delectable dimension to the landmark hotel, which also features the Café Beau-Rivage and the Japanese restaurant, Le Miyako.

Windstar Cruises Lights Candles

The reviews are glowing for Candles, Windstar Cruises' new poolside grill. The just-launched venue – serving fine steaks, skewers grilled on deck, and other five-star fare – adds an additional touch of romance to Windstar's yachting experience. Guests aboard the 148-guest Wind Star and Wind Spirit now have a choice for evening dining in either the acclaimed Restaurant or poolside under starry skies and their ship's crisp white sails. It's yet another piece in Windstar's Degrees of Difference enhancements fleetwide, which include an exciting new menu from celebrity chef Joachim Splichal, an expanded wine list, and course-by-course in-stateroom dining. The new Candles venue accommodates 30 guests and, of course, is subject to weather. Reservations are highly recommended.

An Absolute Feast for Travelers

The experts at Absolute Travel are making their custom-designed journeys even more memorable with a new menu of unforgettable dining experiences in the world's most stunning locales. Consider a romantic repast while under the spell of Argentina's Perito Moreno Glacier – as well as one of the country's most famous chefs, Ramiro Rodríguez Pardo. Or, get a hands-on lesson in Indian cuisine from celebrated cook, author, and television personality Nimmy Paul in her own kitchen. From dinner in the desert dunes of Morocco to a traditional ryokan meal in Japan, Absolute Travel can satisfy even the most discriminating appetites for adventure. Ask your Virtuoso travel advisor for all the details.

Tagine temptation.

VIRTUOSO

OCTOBER/NOVEMBER 2009

INSIGHTS

Welcoming Travelers to the World of Virtuoso

Vintage AMERICA

Explore the finest wine regions from New York to Napa Valley

7 Sensational Culinary Retreats

Spice up your travels with inspiring cooking classes

PLUS

La Dolce Vita Down Under
Grape Escapes in Mendoza, Argentina
Dinner with da Vinci in France's Loire Valley